Mom, I knew that cancer was going to take you away eventually. I just did not believe that eventually would ever come so rapidly. Your sudden depart has caged me in pain, no matter what I do to move on from this pain, deep down inside I will always know that I'll never to get hug my mom again. The ache within my heart keep pushing the tears rolling in my eyes. Mom, you are in god's hands, rest in eternal peace. You will stay within my heart guiding me like an angel until I see you again in heaven. I love you and miss you so much. Helen
