Josh Gilbert posted:

I had the pleasure of working with John for a couple of years in San Bruno right before his retirement. He was always quick with a great motorcycle story, a good joke or some very helpful advice. It was always a pleasure if I got to work about the time John was arriving and leaning his trusty Honda against the fence...the side stand having long-since broken off. "It doesn't make it go any faster...extra weight!" he'd say when I asked if he would ever have it replaced. Always a top-notch guy and a great co-worker. One of the good ones. Josh Gilbert
