Rachel Rose posted:

My grandmother was and still is the most memorable person in my life. I loved her unconditionally and she in turn taught me love too. We were best friends and the joy in my heart when I think of my memories with her bring me not only to tears but also great swelling of love in my heart. I'm 50 years old now and still miss her dearly, but know she is here with me. She was a hardworking, fun, mischievous, kind, independent woman. I wish I could hear her voice, smell her home, and hug her one more time. I love you grandma. Love Rachel

I love you very much! I will miss you very much too... But will cherish and remember all the fun times we had together as a child. McDonald's, watching planes fly in, feeding the birds, and shaking the four o'clocks in your backyard are some of my favorite memories.##imported-begin##Rachel Rose##imported-end##
