Nathan J. Zeiger

JUL 4, 2008 - MAY 7, 2010

Nathan Jefferson Zeiger, age 22 months of Belmont, passed away at Lucile Packard Children's Hospital in Palo Alto, California on May 7, 2010. He was born on July 4, 2008, in Palo Alto to Courtney Adams and Andrew Zeiger. Nathan loved bubbles, bath time and any kind of ball, monkeys and his beloved Baby Can Read DVDs. Although not yet two, he had figured out how to turn on and operate the DVD player. An intrepid eater, Nathan favored adventurous treats like edamame and seaweed salad, peas and avocado. Green might have been his favorite color. Courtney and Andrew lovingly outfitted a dream nursery in shades of chocolate and sky; still, Nathan never spent a single night in his top-of-the-line Pottery Barn crib, because he much preferred the cozy company of mom and dad and their big, comfy bed. An aspiring artist, Nathan had a penchant for scribbling on walls-and an uncanny knack for producing writing implements seemingly out of thin air. His masterpieces were created with either hand indiscriminately; perhaps he would have been ambidextrous like his sister. Many things made little Nathan giggle: The word "ribbit", hurtling rocks into the koi pond, singing and dancing with his three devoted siblings. His father nicknamed the thundering echo of his wobbly walk "happy feet" and recorded the precious sound so that they would always remember it. Nathan was just learning to speak, but he had no problem getting his point across. As his mom likes to say, you never had to wonder what Nathan wanted. Nathan is survived by his parents Courtney and Andrew, and by his siblings Martin, Avery and Ben. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made in Nathan's name to the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF.org).

Hi Courtney – I wanted to let you know that I've been thinking about you & Baby Nathan. He was a beautiful baby! I can't imagine how you must be feeling. Please know that your friends at Arundel & Tierra Linda are praying for you & your family. You are a very strong mother & I know that you will get through this very difficult time. I don't know what else to say because I don't think there are words that I can say to help you feel better. All I can say is that I'm so terribly sorry about your loss. Love,

Courtney, I have been crying all week when I think about how I have never wanted a tragedy this heavy to befall anyone I love. Losing Wes in 2003 has changed me forever!! I feel like I only have one foot here and the rest of me is in Heaven. Heaven is so much more real to me now and I yearn for the Lord's return at least one time a day! My two stepsons Conner(17) and Cody(14) and my Wesley (12) keep me going and God's grace. "Footprints" the poem was my reality the first year. The Lord did carry me because the grief was too hard to bear. I know you are strong because I knew you when!!!!!! You will feel a peace and the comfort of everyone's prayers. You will sense the prayers of millions praying for you and your family. I love you and my heart breaks for you Courtney!!!!!! I love you my Friend, Keryn##imported-begin##Keryn Calcutt Uhler-Farnum##imported-end##

Dear Courtney, Andrew, Martin, Avery & Ben Nothing that we say or do, will lessen the pain that you are feeling right now for the loss of precious Nathan. Just know that we are all feeling bad for ourselves for not having him around, and not for him, he is in a better place. We all share your pain, Nathan touched all of our hearts and we are all devastated by this loss. This worst of nightmares that happened to you, could have happened to any of us. Just a horrible accident. I hope that you can come together now as a family again and by loving each other & staying close, honor him & keep his memory alive. If he could communicate with you, I think that is what he would want, for his family to be together & happy once again. We share your pain & sadness. The Sohrabi Family

Courtney and Andrew... I don't want my inability to figure out what to say to you to get in the way of letting you know you are SOOO in the front of my mind, on the top of my prayers with God, and weighing heavily on my heart. Certainly you are living the nightmare that every parent fears but we also realize it could have been us. All those moments that our kids slip out of sight and get into something they shouldn't be in... we got lucky... but we could have been you. And how I so wish it wasn't you!!!!!! I pray with all my heart that you can somehow find a way to unite as a couple and remember how precious little Nathan has been to you and thank God for the gift of time that you had with him. Know that you are loved by those around you and I will hold you up in my prayers and thoughts. Hold your other kids close and love them!!!! I suspect doing anything is hard right now. You will always remember and love Nathan. With love.. Linda Wells##imported-begin##Linda Wells##imported-end##

We were lucky enough to have shared time with Nathan! His smile and laugh is a constant memory. I recall when Nathan was over our house and Avery, Kaitlyn, Kim, Katherine and Kevin were just chasing him and he was cracking up with laughter! Courtney and Andrew were out for a "date night" and kept calling.. and checking in as great parents do. I have many memories that I will cherish. I even got to pull out old toys for Nathan and he liked the "cooking set"; until he found a ball... It was all over and he wanted to play ball back and forth. You are all in our thoughts and prayers; Nathan is with the Angels and with my Grandfather at Skylawn.
