Until the end; your intelligence, your creativity, but most of all your tender spirit never wavered in spite of your weakening condition. Even while you received chemotherapy, you could bring together those precious qualities and inspire humor in dearest friends and companions, uplifting their spirit as well as your own. What lingers most is the unbearable thought that you will no longer be there to offer your selfless support with your witty remarks.##imported-begin##Gary, Pamela, and Patrick Chang##imported-end##

I'm very grateful for having had the opportunity of knowing Mr. Hsiao. I am very saddened to hear of his passing. With his intelligence, drive, and enthusiasm there are many wonderful things he accomplished. He cared deeply about those around him. It was in his heart to make the world a better place for others. I offer my heartfelt condolences to Pamela, his children, and other family members over this great loss.##imported-begin##Frederick M. Dirbas, M.D.##imported-end##
