Edralin "Ed" Maduli was born on May 16, 1944 in Batac, Ilocos Norte in the Philippines. The eldest of four siblings, Ed was a decorated military veteran and a highly respected longtime educational leader in the California Community Colleges. He departed peacefully on June 12, 2022 after a difficult battle in the hospital.

Son of a Philippine Scouts WWII veteran and U.S. Army serviceman, Ed immigrated to the United States with his family at a young age, living in New York City, Monterey, Hawai'i, and Salinas, California. There he was among the first wave of Filipino American students to attend Hartnell College in the early 1960s before transferring to Cal Poly San Luis Obispo where he earned his B.A. in aeronautical engineering. He went on to earn an M.S. in aeronautical engineering at University of Oklahoma and an M.B.A. Golden Gate University, and was working toward his Ed.D. in educational leadership at University of Southern California.

Ed served in the United States Air Force for over 20 years, retiring with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. His service in the military included assignments across the United States, Thailand, Germany, and Operation Desert Storm in Saudi Arabia. As an officer in the areas of research and development, logistics, and aircraft maintenance, he notably supported the development of the F-117 Stealth Fighter. He was a graduate of the military's Armed Forces Staff College, Air Command and Staff College.

After retiring from the Air Force in 1994, Ed transitioned to a prolific second career in higher education which included administrative leadership positions at Las Positas College in Livermore, California and San Luis Obispo Community College District. His last and longest tenure was as Vice Chancellor of Administrative Services at West Valley Mission Community College District in the San Jose area.

Upon his retirement in 2019, he was selected by the Association of Chief Business Officials (ACBO) as the recipient of the Walter Star Robie Award for having demonstrated outstanding

Ed is remembered for his fiscal expertise, strong leadership, and commitment to improving educational opportunities and quality. He is also remembered as a world traveler, marathon runner, pool party host, wine connoisseur, Golden State Warriors fan, and avid gardener of fruit trees, flowers, herbs and vegetables.

It was an honor to work with Ed when I served as President of West Valley College. Ed was smart, logical, thoughtful, fair, and professional. I loved to watch him drive onto campus in his fancy Porsche! I am deeply saddened to hear of Ed's passing. You had the best eye contact during every conversation and it always made me feel like what I had to say, mattered. I also don't have the loudest or most assertive voice at times, but you always made sure anything I had to say, was heard. You never made me feel left out. Thank You, I wish you didn't have to go so soon

I learned of Ed's passing many months afterwards, and am broken hearted. He was a great friend and colleague during difficult times at Cuesta College. I will never forget his kindness and wisdom. I wish I would have had the chance to say goodbye, but I know we will meet again.
