Dear Chitra, our deepest condolences to you, Uncle, Ravi, Sonia, Ashwin and other family members. I would like to take the liberty to wish the same to myself and my family too as Aunt and you all made us a part of your extended family and we feel her loss very much. It is very difficult to believe Aunt is no more. I couldn't get myself to write to you the past two days. I was reminded of the passing of my maternal grandmother at her similar age and we weren't there during her last moments. We remember Aunt very fondly especially how caring and kind she was. She made us feel a part of your family whenever we met. She inquired about everyone's well being by name. We feel blessed to know her even through occasional visits. She was kind and caring to Aditi as well. I told Aditi that she is no more and she was very upset. I was surprised to see that she remembered her so well. Aditi asked about Aunt every few hours during the past two days. I asked her if she wanted to say something to remember her. This was her message to Aunt: Dear Viji Amamma, I am so sad that you are gone. I promised I would meet you again. I wish I could have kept that promise. I will miss our games, your pulihora, your hugs, but most of all, your smile. That radiant smile of yours would warm everyone's heart. I will always fondly treasure and remember our time together. Love, Aditi Even though she met her only a few times last summer, Aunt's friendship, caring and kindness was so strong that Aditi remembers her so vividly and fondly. We can only imagine the loss you must all feel but we wish you strength and courage at this difficult time. Please know that we share your loss and are here to support in any way we can. Om shanti 🙏 Ajay Myneni and Aditi

My dear Chitra, this is Priya, your neighbor. Today your heart must be so heavy. We're thinking of you and Vivek Uncle. Sending you our love and strength. Yesterday Madhu, Krti and I spoke about your Mummy's abundant love and giving to all of us. Krti repeated this as Her unique quality 🙏🏻🕉️♥️. No matter how quiet we were, she filled the space with love and caring. And, she went out of her way with this caring for our family. Your Dad would watch her in gentle support. It's an image that breaks our heart; and yet, we know that she would want everyone she knew, to remain happy. Especially Her loving family today. 🙏🏻Priya

Sairam Dear Uncle, Chithra, Ravi, Sonya and Ashwin, We are deeply saddened by the passing away of our beloved Viji aunty and are unable to believe that she is not with us! Aunty is one of the finest human beings that we have ever met. Every memory of her's brings comfort and reminds us of her most sincere love and affection. She has wished and blessed us on every possible occasion. She has been a person with abundant grace, caring genuinely about the welfare of others. In every one of our conversations she sincerely enquired about everyone in our family with utmost love and gave precious and valuable advice. We had the privilege to have Uncle and Aunty as chief guests of our school function and we cherish those memories very dearly! They both have attended and blessed us and our students in many of our school programs. We pray for her blessings to all of us and may God give you all the strength to bear with this huge loss! Miss you a lot ammama, I will be thankful till my heart beats for giving a best mom to me,you are the one who taught and stood as an example to me that humans have the capability to spread positivity and to be positive by totally ignoring negativity throughout the life. You taught me how to find happiness by giving and serving others, You taught me how to cross the hurdles and break the rocks in our way turning them as stepping stones so that it can help our successors,You are the one who taught me "deferment of anger is the best antidote of anger".Every ideologies has pros and cons but you ammama is not only a legendary soul but also a ideology where there is no place for CON.Your smile and presence can even turn a dictator into a Democrat ammama and your touch can even turn a poison to amruth. You turned from a unsung legend to unsung God ammama,Your demise is the moment which made me to think that God is so selfish that he took a pure soul like you to him,Love you ammama,I don't know how I will be able to bear the loss and go ahead ammama I still can hear your voice ammama.love you loads ammama.

My Dear Viji Amamma , Not very often do we consider someone as our Amamma , unless that someone is YOU.For you had taken the place of a mother to my mom (Deepa) when she lost her parents.You ensured Swathi and Me were always guided , safe guarded and loved unconditionally such that we never felt the absence of Brinda Amamma in our lives. Our times with you in the US was filled with laughter , joy and so much of unconditional love. You have been instrumental in helping secure lives for Swathi and Me. If I were to pick a few things about you to remember you on this day - it would be unfair. Because you were and will be the complete package of happiness and selfless love to everyone who had crossed your path. Scrolling through our message on whatsapp, I can't help but reminisce the cute little messages you used to send me. Scrolling through our gallery I can't help but remember how every picture of you spoke a million words about what you mean to our family. Most of all , I will miss the "WE LOOOOVE YOU GAYU MA" at the end of every message. You will continue to live through all of us dear Amamma , we wish to grown up to be someone like you in this lifetime. Our respect , regards and love to you. Gayathri and Rahul (India).
