“ Carol will most certainly be missed as she touched so many lives. Her warm and friendly smile along with her personality was one of a kind. She never had an unkind word to say about anyone. I feel honored to have known her over the years. I can hear her cute little giggle that makes me smile. I wish her family peace and healing as this is not good bye but simply...until we meet again. Heaven has a new angel and her name is Carol.

“ The day I met Carol was one of the most memorable days in my life. We worked together for many years and she was there for me everyday. When she became pregnant of Alyssa and then the triplets, I was the first person she told at work. Carol was one of the most caring people in the world and I have missed her smiling face ever since my husband and I moved. She was a living angel. I miss her very much.
